

Best Custom Home Builders in Paradise Valley

Written by Arizona Foothills Magazine

Paradise Valley certainly lives up to its name, combining the best of style and design into spectacular works of art worthy enough to be a luxury escape. The best part is, these three custom home builders work hard to make sure the escape can also be a humble abode and a home away from home.

Argue Custom Homes

Argue Custom Homes is dedicated to making sure your home building process is both positive and exciting. The majestic community is unique with extraordinary views, a classically designed golf course and a 50,000-square-foot clubhouse and spa. Large lots enable Argue Custom Homes to build intimate retreats for their clients, making use of the spacious land and spectacular views of the city.

There is a vision for the community with stringent guidelines for design and development that are upheld by ACH. Homes built in Silverleaf are constructed to a higher standard, which is what ACH strives to give its clients. Tom Argue has a desire to build homes that stand out, and Silverleaf is the perfect locale for clients to build their dream home.

"With a strong focus on our clients' needs, we work closely to ensure each question is answered," Argue said. "We go through everything with a fine-tooth comb, from the initial design process all the way up to move-in day. We believe that if you can dream it, we can build it."

Argue Custom Homes has constructed some of Arizona's grandest estate homes and is a DMB Realty Preferred Builder in Silverleaf. Each is unique to fit the client's needs and feature components to fit your personality, including elaborate recording studios, enclosed batting cages and handcrafted ceilings. It all starts with an authentic vision of style and design. ACH works with each client to design the best home for lot and environment. Whether it is a formal Mediterranean home built into the rocks or a Rural Mediterranean getaway that makes use of the mountain views, ACH delivers an unparalleled attention to detail and quality.

Camelot Homes

Camelot Homes, an industry leader in luxury semi-custom homes since its inception in the 1960s, offers the services of their exclusive Custom Home Division – which, according to Managing Director Cammie Hancock Beckert, “was created as a result of ongoing requests by the public and our previous home buyers who were ready to embark upon the next step of home ownership by building a fully custom luxury Camelot home”.

By choosing Camelot to build their custom home, discerning buyers are given the advantage of our decades of experience building custom and semi-custom homes. As a custom buyer, you will be given the opportunity to work with their friendly and talented in-house designers and a team of carefully selected experts who will assist you along every step of the way from site selection to architectural design and development, to construction and exterior and interior designs. Whether you are already working with an architect, have a blueprint that is ready to go, would like them to design and draft a plan for you, or have fallen in love with one of our previous homes, Camelot can work with you to accomplish your goals while keeping within your budget and time constraints.

Camelot's custom home division will help you create the home of your dreams, while preventing you from experiencing many of the pitfalls common to those builders with lesser experience. Camelot's extreme attention to detail, knowledge of city and community guidelines and long-term relationships with the industry's finest craftsmen who are familiar with their rigid standards, allows you to save time and money so you can actually enjoy the process of building your custom home.

La Casa Builders

Established in 1990 by co-owners Tim Larson and Ron Steege, La Casa Builders Inc. vows to balance its homes with the delicate beauty of the Sonoran Desert with artistic design and the unique vision of the homeowner in each of the custom homes they build.

La Casa Builders has earned a reputation of excellent management, craftsmanship and artisan and are known to seamlessly adapt to an array of different styles. Known as versatile home builders, some of their most notable works include the renovation of Frank Lloyd Wright's final commission in Central Phoenix and a more than 10,000 square-foot sustainable home in North Scottsdale.

Also boasting a state-of-the-art cost analysis program developed by Larson, La Casa Builders can give you one of the most accurate estimates in the custom home building industry. "Client relationships are really the bedrock of the La Casa experience," Steege said. From the beginning stages of development through the end, La Casa Builders Inc. appreciates not only being able to provide a home to their clients, but also forging long-lasting friendships.

Adding to its uniqueness, La Casa Builders prides itself in incorporating green building standards with its Green Building program. This program is incorporated into the planning and construction of their homes to minimize energy consumption, while making a healthier environment for those who live in them.
